What is Drama at A Level?

Together we will study

In the workshop:

Task 1: Vocal and physical actor training, how do we connect voice to action?

Task 2: Breaking down a script · Using and extract from 'That Face' by Polly Stenham we will explore how we can

Opportunity Progress Individuality

interpret lines of dialogue with vocal and physical techniques and use of stage space.

Task 3: We will share performances of our scenes with the addition of lighting, sound and staging.

Independent study before beginning the course:

1 You will be assigned a theatre practitioner that you will be asked to present about on our return. You will need to create a visual presentation on the

- A) The style of theatre that the practitioner pioneered*
- B) Plays that the practitioner wrote/directed/developed*
- C) Techniques associated with the assigned theatre practitioner*

2. You will also be assigned a period of theatre history and will create a visual infographic of that period of time that depicts the styles and convention of theatre at that time as well as well known writers/plays.
