Subject: A-Level Religious

Exam Board: EDEXCEL

Studies - Philosophy

Welcome to A-level RE: Philosophy. We are delighted that you are considering A-level RS as an option in Year 12. To demonstrate your commitment to the course and to prepare you for September, you must complete the following tasks to the best of your ability. These tasks are compulsory and must be completed prior to your first RE lesson in Year 12.

We expect you spend at least 3 hours completing the tasks outlined in this pack. The activities have been designed to help you begin to develop some of the key skills you will need for A-level RS: Philosophy.

What is Philosophy?

At its simplest, philosophy (from the Greek philosophia or philosophia, meaning 'the love of wisdom') is the study of knowledge, or "thinking about thinking", although the breadth of what it covers is perhaps best illustrated by a selection of other alternative definitions:

- the discipline concerned with questions of how one should live (ethics); what sorts of things exist and what are their essential natures (metaphysics); what counts as genuine knowledge (epistemology); and what are the correct principles of reasoning (logic)
- careful thought about the fundamental nature of the world, the grounds for human knowledge, and the evaluation of human conduct
- the search for knowledge and truth, especially about the nature of man and his behaviour and beliefs

TASK: You are going to complete a series of activities in order to learn about some of the most basic philosophical principals and also explore some of the biggest, age old philosophical problems that people have faced.

Firstly we will look at what is real?

For each of the following, consider whether the object or topic in question is real or not. For this exercise, take 'real' to mean 'has an existence independent of minds human or otherwise'. If something is 'not real', then it exists only in the mind.

2. Your reflection in the mirror
3. Colours (e.g. 'red')
4. Smells (e.g. of coffee)
5. Morality (e.g. murder is wrong)
6. Scientific laws (e.g. E=mc²)
7. Ghosts
8. Matter
9. Aesthetics (e.g. 'beauty')
10. The past and the future

Are you a	realist	or an	anti-rea	list?

Penultimate Task
Write a mini essay on the Truman Show and its "big brother" like approach. Critically analyse its pros and cons, where Plato's Cave fits in.
Somethings you might include:
Intro- Highlight the key features of the film and explain its context- introduce characters and ideas.
Main- Explain the strengths and weakness of the film and explain how and why the lead character begins to question his reality. If possible you should make links to how this could impact our own lives.
Explain Plato's cave and make links to the films story line.
Conclusion- Can you discuss the ethics of this experiment and overall evaluate whether anyone in the real world should ever be allowed to be put through something like this.

Final Task
Write / film your own Plato's Cave story.
This could be in the form of a story board or a short stor	y or a brief video clip as a group.
It should contain:
Your own more modernised analogy of the original Plate	o's cave theory.
Short explanation of your Analogy and links to your prior	r learning from previous tasks.
What you have learnt about not only the argument but p	hilosophy as a wider concept.

Good Luck and See you in September
